SENATE CAUCUS FAILS TO BREAK TAX DEADLOCK

Committee Leader Says Some Members Disagree With White House Proposals.

CLAIM ESTIMATES TOO LOW

Believe Present Bill Would Yield $100,000,000 More Than Treasury Calculates.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 27 — An discussion of new tax suggestions received last night at the White House failed to produce agreement today among senate finance committee Democrats on any plan for revising the revenue bill.

Acting Chairman King, Democrat of Utah, told reporters the committee, assembling in advance of a meeting of the full committee, merely had engaged in a general discussion, reaching no conclusions. No attempt was made to bind the group, he said.

Oppose Roosevelt Demand

He intimated, however, that there was some disinclination to proceed along with a new revenue plan suggested at a White House conference last night.

King repeated that some Democrats believed the revenue bill as worked out by the committee would produce more than the treasury has estimated. He said he was certain it would bring in at least $100,000,000 more than the treasury has calculated.

With the addition of import taxes on fats and vegetable oils, the yield estimate has been put at around $555,000,000 of permanent and $52,000,000 of temporary revenue.

President Roosevelt asked for $620,000,000 of permanent and $317,000,000 of temporary funds.

One senatorial source outlined the latest suggestions of President Roosevelt to bring the yield of the drastically altered tax bill up to the amount the chief executive desires as follows:

A 15 per cent flat tax on all corporation income, a superstructure of graduated levies on undistributed corporate earnings, and a $2,000 exemption for all corporations from the latter.

The 4 per cent normal income tax would be applied to all corporation dividends and the capital stock and excess profits taxes would be retained.

The supertaxes on undistributed profits would be 25 per cent on undistributed adjusted net income not in excess of 20 per cent, 35 per cent on that in excess of 20 but not greater than 40 per cent, and 45 per cent on that in excess of 40 per cent.

As the committee proceeded with its studies, the senate proper was up to its ears in work, with leaders pressing for quick action in the drive to adjourn next week. First on its calendar for the day was windup debate on the bill to

SENATORS APPROVE NEW RELIEF SETUP

$1,425,000,000 Measure Wins Committee Okay; Floor Debate Starts Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 27 — The senate appropriations committee today approved a relief appropriation of $1,425,000,000 to be turned over directly to President Roosevelt with authority for PWA to use additional $300,000,000 to carry heavy construction.

The committee approved the $2,-734,000,000 deficiency appropriation containing the relief fund. It added nine items to the measure as it passed the house, but these were not tabulated immdiately.

The action made it possible for the senate to begin debate on the bitterly contested measure tomorrow.

Committee members disagreed over how much discretion would be placed in the President's hands in spending the $1,425,000,000 but none felt the purposes for which the money could be spent were clearly stated in the bill.

QUEEN MARY IS BOUND FOR U. S.

Britain's Biggest Ship Leaves Southampton Amid Colorful and Cheering Throng.

2,139 PASSENGERS ABOARD

Whether Ship Will Beat Normandie's Time Record Matter of Much Speculation.

By The Associated Press

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 27 —The S. S. Queen Mary, Great Britain's mightiest liner, sailed at 4:34 p. m. (10:34 a. m. Marion time) today for New York.

She pointed her bow toward the English channel amidst scenes of public enthusiasm that transformed Southampton's harbor into a vividly exciting welter of sound and color.

The first of the 2,139 passengers boarded ship early while scores of special trains and steamers brought other thousands to cheer the sailing.

Crew Works All Night

The crew of 1,200 worked most of the night to prepare for the passengers making the inaugural trip. Truckloads of provisions were taken aboard, oil was pumped into the tanks, strict precautions were taken against stowaways.

Whether the 80,773-ton pride of British shipbuilders would beat the French liner Normandie's time across the Atlantic was the outstanding topic of conversations throughout Southampton.

Risk of harming the new engines, it was pointed out, might outweigh the risk of disappointing the British public.

Reports were that direct orders were given Sir Edgar Britten, in command of the liner, to make every possible effort to recapture immediately the speed supremacy on the Atlantic for Britain.

Must Do 30.35 Knots

To do so, the Queen Mary must cruise at an average speed of better than 30.35 knots, the record established by the Normandie on a return voyage from New York. On trial runs, the Queen Mary reached a top speed of 32.84 knots.

In any event, the latest colossus of the sea was expected to race to New York in very little more than four days time, arriving there Sunday.

An investment of more than $25,000,000 was involved in the completed Queen Mary, towering high above the water with her 12 decks.

1935 MIBS CHAMP TO DEFEND TITLE

Howard Cahill Qualifies for Annual City Tourney Set For Thursday.

Howard Cahill, 14, of 597 East Church street, city marble champion in 1935, will be in the thick of the fight defending his crown when finalists compete at Central Junior High school, Thursday afternoon. Cahill, who won over a field of several hundred contestants last year, became eligible for the 1936 finals when he copped the Vernon Heights Junior High school championship yesterday.

Harold Jenkins of 781 Oak Grove avenue won the school title at Oakland Heights over a field of 39 contestants in the only other elimination event completed yesterday. Six school champions remain to be selected before the start of the final round at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Elimination rounds for five other city schools were run-off Monday afternoon.

Approximately 150 pupils of city schools have competed in the marbles tourney up to today. Of that group, seven finalists were selected, and with five eliminations yet to be held, it is predicted that the entries will total well over the double century mark.

BOY BICYCLIST FATALLY HURT IN MORROW CO.

Robert Wolcott, 9, Crashes Into Automobile on Bridge Near Mt. Gilead.

DIES SIX HOURS LATER

Accident Occurs as He Returns from Visit; Was Pupil in Mt. Gilead Schools.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, O., May 27—Nine-year-old Robert Wolcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Wolcott of two miles north of Mt. Gilead, was injured fatally when the bicycle he was riding crashed headon into an automobile on a narrow bridge near his home yesterday at 5:30 p. m.

The boy suffered two fractures of the skull and a broken leg. He died six hours after the accident at the home of his parents. A physician ordered him taken to his home immediately after the accident, saying his condition was too critical to permit moving him to a hospital.

At Bottom of Hill

Thomas Rinehart, a neighbor of the Wolcotts and driver of the automobile that figured in the collision, said the boy was pedaling hard, head down, and had just come down a hill when the vehicles collided on the bridge. He said the boy apparently neither saw nor heard the automobile.

The boy and the bicycle struck the radiator of Rinehart's automobile and the rider was thrown over one fender and off the running board. Rinehart said he was unable to keep out of the boy's path because of the bridge.

Returning From Visit

The Wolcott boy was returning to his home on a side road after visiting his brother, George, who was plowing in a nearby field when the mishap occurred. Rinehart was returning from Mt. Gilead to his home nearby.

The boy, a pupil in the Mt. Gilead schools, is survived by his father and mother and two brothers, George at home and Richard of near Mt. Gilead. Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning.

FOOD DISTRIBUTION SET FOR THURSDAY

Marion County Clients To Receive 3 1-2 Tons of Cabbage; Starts at 9 A. M.

Three and one-half tons of new cabbage will be distributed tomorrow to Marion county relief clients and supplemented WPA families. It was announced today by Carl Campbell, county relief commodity distributor. The distribution will be made at the City barns on Owens street, beginning at 9 a. m. The cabbage, grown in the southern states, arrived today on a government truck from Columbus.

The weekly distribution of clothing, made at the WPA sewing center, and given out to relief clients on special requisition each Thursday will be handled Friday, because of the conflict with the cabbage distribution, Mr. Campbell said.

WPA CONFERENCE ON HERE TONIGHT

Effort Will Be Made To Devise Ways and Means To Finance Projects.

Approximately 75 business men and city and county officials are expected to meet at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters tonight to take part in a discussion of ways and means to finance the federal WPA program in Marion county. The meeting will start at 8.

The discussion group has been called by the Chamber of Commerce at the request of H. M. Taylor, district WPA director, and notification has been sent to various business men and officials.

The WPA program here has been drastically curtailed recently because of a shortage of funds for materials necessary to carry on the projects. Some have been stopped entirely and work on others has been greatly reduced. The present problem, officials said, is due to failure of the county and city tax levies to carry at the May 12 primary. A part of the funds the levies would have provided was to be allocated to WPA work.

There are a number of worthwhile WPA projects now under way in the city and county, officials said, and it would be nothing short of disastrous not to carry them through to a finish. W. D. Brown, secretary of the Chamber, said it is hoped a number of suggestions and plans for financing the projects will result from tonight's meeting. A "ways and means" committee is to be appointed to work on the plans presented.

$20,000 Won by Marion Man in Race Sweepstakes

Otto A. Issleib Holds Lucky English Derby Ticket; Horse Finishes Second.

A $20,000 prize will come to a Marion man as a result of his holding a $1 ticket on Taj Akbar, second place winner in the English derby at Epsom Downs, England, today.

The winner is Otto A. Issleib of 947 Mt. Vernon avenue. His ticket was in the Army and Navy Veterans sweepstakes with headquarters in Montreal, Canada.

When told of the amount of his winnings at his home by a representative of The Star shortly after the race, Mr. Issleib said, "Well, it must be true. Some one else a while ago said I had a lucky ticket, but I can hardly believe it. It's certainly the biggest surprise of my life."

Mr. Issleib bought the ticket several weeks ago from John Dugan, Marion clothier, who had intended to keep the ticket for himself but let Mr. Issleib have it as an accommodation.

Second Local Winner

This is the second time in two months that a Marion man has won one of the sweepstakes prizes in an English race. A ticket which Mr. Dugan bought but later sold to a friend was worth approximately $10,000 in the grand national at Aintree, England, race last March 27. The friend who bought the ticket proposed that they split the winnings.

Mr. Dugan said today he would receive about $500 as the prize for selling a winning ticket.

This also was the second time that Mr. Dugan has had what might be considered bad luck with race tickets.

For each race, he said today, he receives a book of tickets from the Army and Navy Veterans sweepstakes headquarters. Ordinarily he keeps the entire book of five, but this time, because of the demand for tickets after he won in March, he sold the entire book, keeping none for himself. The winning ticket came from this book.

General Surprise

If Mr. Issleib was surprised when told he held a winning ticket, his surprise was not to be compared to that of his wife, Mrs. Rose Issleib.

When a friend of the family first broke the news to them this morning, Mr. Issleib turned to his wife and said, "Rose, did you have a ticket?"

"You know very well I wouldn't have a ticket on a horse race," she answered.

"Well, I have," Mr. Issleib remarked as we went upstairs to get the ticket from a bill fold.

"I never said anything to my wife about the ticket and I had almost forgotten about it myself. We didn't even listen to the race on the radio," he remarked.

Mr. Issleib's horse, Taj Akbar, was the favorite but got away to a bad start, moving up to second place near the end of the course. Army and Navy sweepstake tickets on the first place horse, Mahmound, were worth $30,000.

Irish Lottery Biggest

The Army and Navy sweepstakes of Montreal is not to be confused with the Irish sweepstakes, the big lottery in today's race. Nine Americans held Irish sweepstake tickets on Mahmound, the winner, and as a result will receive $150,000 each, The Associated Press reported.

Five more Irish tickets were held in the United States on Taj Akbar, and to each of these ticketholders goes about $75,000.

Six tickets were held in the United States on Thankerton, the horse which ran third, and to each of these tickets goes $50,000.

In consequence, the three "in the money" horses pay $2,025,000 to Americans.

The holders of tickets on Mahmound are all from New York City with the exception of one in San Francisco.

Mahmound and Taj Akbar are owned by the Aga Kahn, Mohammedan sportsman. The one hundred and forty-third running of the derby drew an estimated crowd of 500,000 today. Thankerton, finishing in third place, is owned by Mrs. J. Shand.

Frequent Winner

The victory was the second successive year and the third time in seven years in which the Aga Khan's silks have been in front in England's most famous race. Bahram won last year and Blenheim in 1930.

Held at 100 to 8 in the betting, Mahmound finished the one and one-half miles three lengths in front of his more highly regarded stablemate. Three-quarters of a

Michigan Acts to Wipe Out Black Legion While Ohioan Reveals Appeal to G-Men

Beating of Candidate Who Refused To Join Brings Plea to Justice Agents by Auglaize Sheriff.

RECEIVES NO REPLY

Victim Says He Was Struck, Held Prisoner in Crib, Then Threatened With Death If He Told.

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., May 27—Disclosure that the department of justice was asked to investigate the beating of an unwilling candidate for Black legion membership and testimony that the lantern-jawed leader of the vigilantes claimed control of relief jobs extended today ramifications of the secret order whose members have been named in murder, flogging and kidnaping charges.

While authorities in Detroit and other Michigan cities reopened inquiries into every unsolved crime of violence there for the past several years, Sheriff W. E. Kelley of Auglaize county, Ohio reported that he had asked the G-men last September to investigate the beating and intimidation of William Smith, 35-year-old Waynesfield, O., farmer who refused to join the society.

Gets No Reply

Sheriff Kelley said he never had received a reply from the department of justice, so considered at the time that federal agents had not regarded the matter as worth going into.

Smith said he was beaten, held prisoner in a corn-crib all night, and then threatened with "death within 24 hours" if he told of the occurrence. Nevertheless, he said he told something of the case to Sheriff Kelley.

To Smith's story of assault and threats of death when he refused to be initiated into the Black legion, was added the disclosure that a witness before an Ohio state senate committee last summer had named V. F. Effinger of Lima as head of the night riders and said Effinger claimed to be able to control jobs in relief offices.

Help Each Other

The witness, George Armstrong, relief worker, testified that the Legion members aided each other in getting relief jobs and assignments as foremen, discriminating against non-member relief clients. He said he once had been a member and was required to swear to be under oath if necessary to uphold Black legion comrades.

Effinger, former Lima electrical contractor and twice unsuccessful candidate for sheriff of this county (Allen), estimated the Legion strength at 6,000,000 members but denied connection with what he called "mad acts" in Detroit, where a slaying is under investigation, and where the prosecutor has voiced a desire to question him.

Admits Klan Hookup

Well, what if I am?" responded the huge, sharp-eyed Effinger when asked if he actually was the Legion's chieftain. Well over six feet tall, weighing 200 pounds or more, and with a prominent chin, he admitted he was former head of the Ku Klux Klan here. He is about 50.

When Effinger's Klan background was disclosed, James A. Colescott of Columbus, head of the Klan in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky, denied the Klan and

FIRST CROW HUNT YIELDS NO CROWS

New Association To Try Again With "Calling" Equipment

Old Jay Crow proved too elusive for members of the recently organized Crow Hunters association, who held their initial hunt on the Harry Beaver farm, one and a half miles west of Green Camp this morning. Planning their campaign against the farm enemies to assure future success, strategists of today's futile expedition announced that "Mr. Crow won't have a chance next time when we use artificial crow callers."

The crow callers, designed to attract the birds by imitating their calls, are expected to enable the hunters to ambush their quarry.

Members of the association will meet next Monday night at the Jennings garage at 182 North State street, to elect officers and complete their line of attack for future expeditions.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 27—A house investigating committee today voted six to two to recommend to the house that Dr. F. E. Townsend and two of his old age pension organization aids be cited for contempt and the case turned over to the United States district attorney.

The committee recommended that Rev. Clinton Wunder of New York and J. H. Klefer of Chicago be cited with Dr. Townsend for their failure to appear for examination as ordered in subpoenas.

Vote Against Citation

Rep. Tolan, Democrat of California, and Collins, Republican of California, voted against the contempt citation recommendation. They also voted against referring the case to the federal court instead of trying it in the house.

Dr. Townsend, founder of the movement to pay $200 a month from the federal treasury to everyone past 60, "walked out" on the committee several days ago. Afterward he instructed Klefer, Wunder and other assistants to join him in refusing to answer the investigators' questions.

No action was taken against Sheridan Downey, attorney for Dr. Townsend, who was summoned as a witness last night and answered

CLYDE BEATTY DENIES CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Pays $20 Fine To Avoid Dispute Over Use of Gun and Whip During His Act.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, May 27—Clyde Beatty, noted trainer of wild beasts, insisted today he was innocent of a charge of cruelty to his 39 lions and tigers now appearing in a circus, even though he did plead guilty and pay a $20 fine to the accusation.

"It was the easiest way out of an embarrassing situation," he declared.

Agent E. M. Smith, of the humane society, who preferred the charge, said he didn't think it necessary to use a whip on animals or fire blank cartridges which might deafen, burn or blind them.

Beatty replied:

"Lions and tigers are natural enemies. If we didn't use some measures they would kill each other. Anyway the whip doesn't hit the animal. It merely makes some attracting their attention and if I fired a gun in their face the way you say, it would put out their eyes."

"If that's the case, then it would be better to prohibit mixed animal acts," said Smith.

William Kernard, Beatty assistant, also pleaded guilty to a cruelty charge and paid a similar fine.

EXAMINATION HALTS

Action Against 12 Held in Death of WPA Worker Postponed After 3 Tell of Identifying Victim.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 27—Michigan declared a war of extinction on the Black legion today, while reports from other states disclosed that terrorist activities attributed to the hooded night riders were not bounded by state lines.

The examination of 12 members of the Black legion on charges of kidnaping and slaying Charles A. Poole was adjourned until next Tuesday but Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea declared his intention to "stamp the legion out as I would a pestilence."

Want To Drive It Out

Attorney General David H. Crowley said he would confer with McCrea today on a "concerted drive to eradicate the legion and punish offending members," through state wide grand jury investigations.

Three witnesses had told of identifying Poole's bullet pierced body before adjournment was taken.

The witnesses were Owen Rushing, his wife, Marcie, and Dr. A. M. Altshuler, county medical examiner. Rushing is a brother of Lowell Rushing, one of the 12 charged with Poole's slaying, and Mrs. Owen Rushing is a sister of Poole's widow.

Today's hearing came shortly after Rep. Dickstein, Democrat of New York, had demanded that congress investigate terroristic activities of the masked band.

Courtroom Crowded

The courtroom was crowded as the Black legion group was led in from the jail where they have been held since their arrests last Friday brought to light the existence of the secret vigilante society with a claimed national membership of 6,000,000.

Dickstein, who proposes that a congressional investigation be set in motion along with those now being directed by Michigan state and county authorities, told newsmen in Washington that he sought to learn if the Black legion has "international connections." He said he had been informed that the Black legion is identical with the "Black shirts," an organization investigated last year by a house committee.

Assistant Prosecutor John A. Ricca said today that "we have cards showing at least 300 women members here."

Demand Investigation

A resolution unanimously adopted by the city council of Hamtramck, Detroit area municipality, demanding that Michigan's delegation in congress urge a federal investigation of the Black legion as "a murderous fascist outfit" was forwarded to Washington today.

Rep. Hoffman (R), a member of the Michigan delegation, said he had received an unsigned letter from what "might be the Black legion" threatening that "I had a green plot two by six feet waiting for me back in Michigan."

Although V. F. Effinger, spokesman for the Black legion, asserted at Lima, O., that the organization for which he claimed 6,000,000 members should not be held in disrepute for the actions of a few men, Attorney General Crowley said he considered the legion definitely a "menace."

Already, authorities were investigating the burning of Fr. Charles E. Coughlin's original Shrine of the Little Flower, numerous reports of floggings, and at least a dozen deaths over the state for possible connection with the night riding terror.

HOURS AND PAY ON NRA LEVEL

Sloan Points to Maintenance of Improved Conditions Since Death of Codes.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 27—George A. Sloan, chairman of the consumers' goods industries committee, last night made public a survey in which business leaders declared industry has generally maintained improved wage and hour scales since the collapse of the NRA a year ago and employment is now nearing the 1929 level.

Making the survey public on the eve of the anniversary of the supreme court decision which held that the NRA was invalid, Sloan said:

"American industry generally has given an inspiring example of its determination and ability to maintain and improve wage and hour standards."

Excerpts from the reports of the various leaders follow:

Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America: "Our industry is employing 15 per cent more people than in 1929. Better than 95 per cent are maintaining same or higher wages and more than 85 per cent are observing the working hour standards which prevailed under NRA."

Walter S. Tower, executive secretary of the American Iron and Steel Institute: "No deviation from minimum wages and maximum hours prescribed in the code. Number of employes increased approximately 30,000 during the past year."

Alfred Reeves, vice president and general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers association: "With 24 per cent less production in 1935, the automobile industry employed practically the same number of people as in 1929. Present hourly wage rates and weekly earnings approximately the same as in 1929."

A. L. Viles, president of the Rubber Manufacturers association: "Rubber industry generally has maintained code wages and hours. Several wage increases made during code period still in effect and hourly wage rates today are higher than in 1929. Employment has increased 27 per cent since 1933 and is now very close to the 1929 level."

Arthur Beare, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers: "Wages fully maintained. Probably less than 2 per cent have made any changes. Hours reasonably well maintained. March, 1936, employment 150,950, as compared to 140,085 one year ago."

S. P. Munroe, assistant to the president, Cotton Textile Institute: "Government reports and figures evidence a high degree of observance of basic wage and hour standards former code. Over 90 per cent of the industry is cooperating."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

with a defiant letter to the committee challenging it to "punitive action."

Next Step Uncertain

Bell said it had not been decided when the contempt resolution would be submitted to the house but indicated it would be Friday at the latest.

"Like Dr. Townsend, I challenge you to punitive action, for the unholy records of this investigation (into the Townsend old age pension movement) is a shield that will protect us," said Downey's statement submitted by Thomas W. Hardwick, counsel for the Old Age Revolving Pension, Ltd.

The committee refused Hardwick permission to read the statement but accepted it for consideration in executive session. Downey was subpoenaed late yesterday.

"All over America hundreds of newspapers and citizens by the millions approve our conduct," Downey's statement said.

"So gentlemen, proceed. Congressional inquisitions are on trial. Your delay to force the issue against us weakens your prestige and increases ours. We seek the opportunity to present before the bar of congress or before an American jury our charges against you. Will you not therefore hasten your action, make good your threats and proceed against us."

lighten federal supervision of commodity markets.

After the vote on that measure, leaders planned to call up a compromise bill to replace the present ocean mail contracts with a system of outright subsidies for the merchant marine.

Tomorrow, the chamber may begin debate on the $2,384,000,000 relief deficiency bill. An appropriations committee seemed on the point of approving this measure today.

The bill's progress is accompanied with charges and denials of politics in relief. Yesterday Sen. Holt, Democrat of West Virginia, asserted WPA was "the greatest and best oiled political machine this country has ever seen." About the same time Administrator Hopkins said that charges of politics made by Arthur M. Curtis, Missouri Republican committeeman, were "in each and every instance untrue." He accused Curtis of "political mud-slinging."

342 FARMERS OBTAIN LOANS

Production Credit Association Loans $140,700 in Marion District.

So far this year 342 farmers of Marion and four nearby counties served by the Marion Production Credit association have borrowed $140,700 from the loaning agency, [illegible] Miller, secretary-treasurer of the association, reported today.

Other counties served by the association are Wyandot, Hardin, Morrow and Crawford. Mr. Miller's report shows an increase of 104 per cent in the number of farmer-members of the association in the first four months of this year as compared with the same period last year. And an increase of more than 134 per cent in the amount borrowed by members. The loans provide funds for farmers to finance their crop and livestock production.

"This year more farmers are operating on a cash basis than at any time since pre-depression days," Mr. Miller said. "They find that they are money ahead to borrow from their short-term credit cooperative at the present five per cent per year interest rate and reap the benefits of cash discounts and other buying advantages," he added.

The Marion Production Credit association was organized early in 1934 and has advanced $489,000 to the farmers of this territory. The association is owned in part by the borrowers. The money loaned comes from investors who buy debentures of the Federal Intermediate Credit bank of Louisville, Ky. This institution in turn discounts the notes of the farmer-members of the association.

Farmer-members have maintained an enviable record of repayment, according to Mr. Miller's report, having liquidated $244,000 of the total amount loaned, leaving $255,000 outstanding as of May 1 this year.

Agents of the association taking loans here and in nearby counties follow: The Marion Production Credit association offices in the McNeal-Wolford building; B. E. Bradford of Kenton, Hardin county farm agent; H. L. Winner of the Citizens Bank Building in Upper Sandusky; R. L. Miller of Bucyrus, Crawford county agent, and A. W. Ault of 24½ South Main street, Mt. Gilead.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Ringworm.

If you have ever visited a great bathing beach you were perhaps amazed to observe the number of persons who assemble within a comparatively small area. Many of the bathers walk around barefooted and often unknowingly tread on contaminated soil, pathways and boardwalks.

This practice is a frequent cause of ringworm, more commonly known as "athlete's foot." This disease is given the latter name because athletes are prone to develop the diseases from contact with infected floors in gymnasiums, locker rooms and showers.

Within recent years public health officials have taken every means of safeguarding the public from this disease. Antiseptics have been placed in public swimming pools. Every measure of cleanliness is taken to eradicate the germs of the disease from boardwalks, locker rooms, showers and the other familiar sources of contamination.

But it can readily be seen how difficult it is completely to eradicate the agents of the disease. So long as one walks about barefooted, or allows any portion of the skin to come in contact with the parasitic responsible for ringworm, this disabling ailment will exist.

The disease is caused by a fungus known as the "tricophyton." Contact with it leads to a skin irritation medically known as "determatomycosis trichephytina." This is a big name, but not too impressive to define a really disagreeable and obstinate disease. As I have implied, this is the same as athlete's foot or ringworm.

The effects may be observed on any portion of the body, but it is more commonly found on the face, hands and neck, and especially the soles of the feet, and the skin in between the toes. The sufferer first notices that the skin peels and becomes softened. Then it becomes inflamed. As a rule, the inflammation begins as a flat reddish spot which soon enlarges. As the trouble proceeds the skin becomes colored in the center, giving a signet ring-like appearance. This ring is elevated, reddened and scaly.

The color of the center of the ring soon fades, becoming pinkish and more like the adjacent skin. The ring-like appearance may persist for several weeks. Then the first area of trouble disappears only to appear somewhere else on the body.

The disease is one of the most contagious of all skin eruptions. It is easily spread from one individual to another. It can only be prevented by taking certain precautionary measures. If you are to visit a large bathing beach or pool, make sure that it is approved by the local health authorities. Guard against infection by wearing sandals or slippers.

Bear in mind that ringworm is a mild and simple disease if proper attention is given to it at its onset. But if neglected it often becomes one of the most stubborn of all inflammations of the skin. Neglect of the disease means chronic irritation with always the danger of spreading the infection to others.

TILDEN SHOWS TENNIS WARES

Courts for Many Years in Matches at Crystal Pavilion

... ruler of the tennis ... many years last night ... first view of the ... is played in fast com... net star stopped here ... agement at Crystal lake ... ion on his present tour ... of other professional ... amateur tennis stars ... small crowd turned out ... who before turning professional held practically all the national and international championship of any consequence

Tilden displayed his aces in both singles and doubles matches. Volleying the ball with the fury for which he is famous Big Bill accomplished shots which the ordinary player would consider almost impossible In the singles match with Bruce Barnes pro here professional champion and former intercollegiate double champion he termis "master" dropped two consecutive sets 6-4 and 6-4

Paired with James McClure of Indianapolis Tilden opposed Bruce Barnes and Alfred Chapin in a set of doubles After leading 4-1 Tilden and McClure were overwhelmed momentarily by the slashing drives of their clever opponents and lost the set 7-5 Chapin was at one time listed among the first ten amateur players of the country and McClure at 17 holds the national table tennis crown

The program opened with Mrs. Ethel Burkhart Arnold of Los Angeles second ranking woman player of the world meeting McClure in a singles match The Indianapolis youth won the first set 6-1 but dropped the second 6-4 Mrs Arnold's volleys and backhand kept McClure on his toes during the entire two sets Only four feet 11 inches tall Mrs Arnold is seemingly not handicapped by her stature as she covers the playing court with ease and skill

McClure who last year journeyed to Czecho-Slovakia to win the doubles table tennis crown with Bud Bissinger as his partner displayed his versatile ability in a match table tennis game with George Sturges of Delaware McClure won 21-15 and 21-17 over the Ohio Wesleyan student who is a former Michigan state champ and present holder of the Pennsylvania state title

WATER CO. ACTS TO SHUT HYDRANTS

Action Taken as Delaware Unpaid Rentals Pile Up to $41 861

Special to The Star

DELAWARE O May 27—The Delaware Water Co yesterday asked permission from the state utilities commission to discontinue furnishing fire protection to the city of Delaware on grounds that the city owes the company $41 861 94 for fire hydrant service since 1932 The commission set July 9 as the date of hearing of the petition

Defeat of a three mill levy proposed to increase revenue to the city's general fund at the May 5 primary has placed the city in a critical state financially City officials have estimated that the municipality will not have enough funds to pay operating expenses for this year

Water company officials asserted yesterday that the city's failure to pay the hydrant rentals is working a financial hardship on the company which must maintain enough pressure for an emergency 24 hours a day entailing increased operating expenses

The city has not paid utility bills since 1932 with the exception of 1934 and three months of 1935 when a deficiency bond issue enabled payment of bills for a 15 month period Officials blamed strained financial conditions of the last few years on a sharp decline in revenue caused by a large reduction in real property valuations change from the 15 mill to the 10 mill limitation failure of many property owners to pay their taxes and a heavy bonded indebtedness which now consumes almost half of the city's income

Benesch Claims Swindlers 'Muscle In' on Cases Opponents Prepare To Bring Up

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O May 27—The house of representatives finance committee considered today testimony of Finance Director Alfred A Benesch that the insurance frauds in Youngstown were of such magnitude that rival swindlers often muscled in on each others business

Benesch in asking the committee to approve an appropriation of $39 250 to finance a state insurance department investigation of frauds said 640 residents of Youngstown were on the suspected list of persons believed involved in gigantic mulcting operations

When one ring gets wind that another is going to pull a fake automobile accident at some street corner it will be on the job and muscle in to take a part of the award Benesch declared

State Insurance Supt Robert L Bowen who joined in the request for an appropriation told the committee that automobile insurance liability rates in Youngstown were two and one half times the state wide average because of widespread frauds there

While the committee took no immediate action in the request it indicated that an appropriation to finance the inquiry probably would be added to the deficiency bill which Chairman Julian W Schweller said was to be considered soon

How Voluntary?

A milestone has been reached and passed in the progress of organized labor toward social security. Railroad management and representatives of labor have formed an agreement to care for employes affected unfavorably by technological improvements and mergers.

Under the agreement employes no longer needed are entitled to a coordination allowance payable either as salary or in a lump sum. Employes demoted because of consolidations are to receive their former wages for periods up to five years.

Railroads are to stand moving and traveling expenses of employes transferred from one point to another. Employes forced to sell their houses are to be reimbursed by the railroads which also will make good all losses on unexpired leases.

The agreement startlingly liberal is reported to be voluntary. Going beneath the surface of that significant adjective, however, one will be impressed with several obvious facts. First railroads were forced to choose between a voluntary agreement and a threat to do the same thing by federal legislation.

Second railroads are controlled effectively by the interstate commerce commission and a federal commissioner of transportation. They are only theoretically a private industry. The investment is private, the management and responsibility are private, but the real authority is governmental.

The word voluntary, when applied to railroads in 1936 needs to be hedged in with numerous reservations and exceptions.

Mooney Will Talk.

A report from Tom Mooney's lawyer that his client will tell the story of his activities as a labor agitator finally turns the light on the most powerful force in a famous case.

For years it has been pointed out by those who have analyzed the Mooney case that California authorities were more interested in the man than in the charge. To put it bluntly, they were sure they had the right culprit though apparently on the wrong pretext.

Mooney had the bad fortune to make himself conspicuous as a labor agitator at a time when the art of fomenting trouble was frowned upon by government. He was in bad standing before the 1916 Preparedness day bombing incident which provided an excuse to get him out of the way.

It is not improbable that even the darkest version of his activities would seem sugary in comparison with current methods of labor agitation. If Mooney had waited 20 years to make a name for himself he might have become a figure of national importance instead of merely the victim of a scandal in California justice.

There is no likelihood that the story as he tells it will be more shocking than it needs to be. Even if it should be unsweetened it probably will leave listeners wondering what was so dreadful about a labor agitator who in 1916 and the preceding years merely was breaking ground for more intensive cultivation in later years.

The Great Divide.

Beating back every attempt at compromise the Socialist party convention voted to sustain its executive committee's ruling that the militant left wing delegation from New York should be seated instead of the contesting old guard group. Then it went on to nominate Norman Thomas as its presidential candidate.

Since Mr. Thomas attracted fewer than 900,000 voters as the party's standard bearer in 1932 it cannot be said that the intra-party split will rock the republic. That it is, however, of historic significance to the radical movement cannot be doubted. The seriousness and probable permanency of the break is indicated in the fact that deprived of its right to seat delegates in the convention the old guard immediately started a competitive convention.

To the outsider the charges of Louis Waldman old guard leader and the counter charges of Mr. Thomas left wing chief are mystifying if no amusing. Asserting that the Thomasites are marching into the Communist camp Waldman insists his old guardists represent the true spirit of socialism. Replying Thomas declares that the real Socialist party now is prepared to begin its work of building for socialism in our time and must ignore the secessionists as though they did not exist.

Despite confusion certain trends may be observed. Embarrassed by the fact that President Roosevelt has adopted some of the milder planks of previous Socialist platforms the Thomasites—probably the majority group—are being forced farther to the left. Denouncing Mr. Roosevelt as a weak kneed liberal the Socialists probably will stress henceforth the militant or ordinary doctrines of the Declaration of Principles rejected in the Iowa convention.

Looking to the future it seems safe to predict that the militants will be willing to enter into and try to dominate any labor party movement started in the next few years. Meanwhile the militant revolutionary ardor is likely to alienate many liberals who cast protest votes for Mr. Thomas in 1932.

The Proper Color

Expansion of a secret society of Ku Kluxism in Michigan is a reminder that old ideas die hard. Secret societies employing terror as an instrument are far from new. All countries have had their experiences with them from time to time. In Austria for instance a momentous struggle is going on between the state and a private army which challenges the power of the state to dissolve it. Italy's Black Shirts and Germany's Brown Shirts once were underground gangs. England has had its colored shirtists. Ireland is having its troubles with them.

The Michigan gangsters it must be said have been wearing the proper color to advertise their standing in the United States. The white robes of the Klan were an anomaly in the American credo which in white is the symbol of purity. Black robes and hoods come much closer to representing the thinking and acting of the misguided gentlemen who like to work off their unsocial repressions under cover of darkness.

Naturally the country wonders how widespread the newest terrorists may be. In the troubles of the last few years relatively no thought has been given to such things. But the temptation to engage in secret stuff always exists and there always will be men weak enough to yield to it. If there is anything the United States does not want it is another organized minority particularly one which works after dark in black robes.

On the Other Hand

Supreme Court rulings and subsequent discussions of them have done a great deal to clear up for confused minds what the federal government may not do in legislation affecting the states. Relatively little has been said about what the states may not do in legislation affecting the federal government.

Justice McReynolds who read on Monday the majority opinion in a case rising from the municipal bankruptcy act of 1934 shed some light on the subject condemning the act as an infringement of the constitutional provision against impairment of the obligation of contracts and as a statute leading to the control of states and their subdivisions by congress the opinion pointed out.

> Neither consent nor submission by the states can enlarge the powers of congress none can exist except those which are granted. The sovereignty of the state essential to its proper functioning under the federal Constitution cannot be surrendered it cannot be taken away by any form of legislation.

The thought behind the ruling should be interesting possibly provoking to persons who have been looking for ways to get around the Constitution. It appears that even if the states were willing to surrender the powers which apostles of central authority want the thing could not be done constitutionally. To those who have seen the recent struggle as a voluntary surrender of state powers to a stronger government in Washington a reminder has been issued that the Constitution doesn't permit violation by permission either.

Leading Industrialist Answers Roosevelt

Alfred P. Sloan Makes Two Speeches on Pacific Coast in Which He Takes Different Point of View

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1936 by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON May 27—Two speeches made by Alfred P Sloan Jr on the west coast in the last few days constitute a contribution to the national debate on unemployment and recovery which because they are so political in character will attract far less attention than the addresses of the candidates in this campaign year.

Yet what Mr Sloan has said happens to be the first carefully prepared answer from a spokesman of an important industry to the economic philosophy of President Roosevelt as outlined in his recent speeches at Baltimore and New York.

Mr Sloan's first speech at Los Angeles was entitled Shall We Have More—Or Less? And his second at San Francisco was called More and Better Jobs. Taken together they form a symposium of ideas in answer to the oft heard query—Well what would you do to reemploy 10,000,000?

As head of the General Motors Corp Mr Sloan talks by experience of what has actually been accomplished in the automotive industry by actually putting into effect the philosophy of lower prices and lower costs through efficiency and a consequent increase in sales and in payrolls and in the number employed.

The first comment was directed at President Roosevelt's remark in his New York speech wherein he said:

> Reduction of costs of manufacture does not mean more purchasing power and more goods consumed. It means just the opposite.

The foregoing has been the subject of much controversy yet Mr Sloan is among the first of American business leaders to speak out frankly about it. He says:

> I sincerely hope that we may have a broad discussion of that rather astounding pronouncement before we reverse our industrial technique. I cannot believe that this means what is really says it must be based on the belief that a reduction in the cost of manufacture means a reduction in the wage scale. That is not necessarily so. In fact it should not be so.
> It can be demonstrated beyond any reasonable doubt that those industries which have been most successful in reducing the costs of goods and services and expanding their markets have at the same time paid the highest wage and have continually raised that wage through evolution.

It would naturally follow from what our President stated that if the reduction of costs decreases consumption then an increase of costs should increase consumption. It is impossible to reconcile that philosophy with the past record and today's experience.

> I believe that if we reduce the cost of goods and services by greater efficiency by better technique and thus are able to make lower prices we shall stimulate the market because more can buy. Hence more jobs and more things for more people. That at least has been our past experience and it is still the fact today.

Mr Sloan takes issue too with those business men who have been arguing for stabilization of prices. He insists this means an umbrella over the inefficient. The labor leaders like some industrialists have swallowed this philosophy he declares. And here is the kernel of the whole address:

> America must decide between two opposing principles of industrial operation competition on the one hand or regulation and ultimately regimentation by government on the other. The latter to my way of thinking offers the only possible substitute for the former the issue is plainly before us.
> However objectionable industrial competition may be to some or all of us I am convinced that competition offers the only solution to the perfectly natural desire and right of more people to have more things and especially the opportunity to afford the full employment of our workers in the production of wealth.
> It seems perfectly plain that if the exchange of labor for goods and services or one form of goods or services for another can only take place on the basis of arbitrary terms set by the seller irrespective of their value to the buyer and if no one will work at less than a stated wage irrespective of the value of that wage in terms of goods and services then we might just as well recognize and accept permanent depression permanent unemployment a continuous dole and make the best of it.

Certainly the automobile industry which is profitable these days has followed the principle of greater dollar value and has by real efficiency made headway.

It is in the San Francisco speech that Mr Sloan accepts 100 per cent the philosophy of the Brookings Institute of Washington and contradicts President Roosevelt's contention at Baltimore that the answer to unemployment is to have fewer workers working less.

The Brookings theory is that America has not yet reached the stage of industrial development in which we have the man power to produce more than our people as a whole have the desire to consume and that it is impossible materially to shorten the working day and still produce the quantities of goods and services that the American people want to consume.

Mr Sloan goes so far as to say that if the problem is intelligently analyzed it is possible to develop in this country a worker shortage instead of a job shortage. He thinks better jobs both socially and economically are possible if industry will move toward the maximum possible continuity of employment with an annual wage as great as possible in relation to the hourly wage.

> Progress is being made toward this objective the motor executive pointed out. But the important factor is this. One way to provide more and better jobs is by increasing the hours of employment permitting our workers to earn more hence to increase the spread between the cost of necessities of life and the annual income of the worker. I am not advocating that solution. I recognize that we must have a proper balance between leisure and work. But where we set the balance important influences whether we are to have more or fewer jobs.
> The principal point in Mr Sloan's opinion comes in the handling of obsolescence. He thinks America's production plant is today obsolete. He believes it can be and should be rebuilt that it would provide jobs and would result in lowering prices at the same time because costs would go down. Everything is waiting he remarks.
> There is a grand opportunity to rebuild America on the basis of today's technology. The two fundamental facts in

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

BY PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON May 27—If you will look into the Republican delegation situation through practical glasses you will probably see a lineup today something like this:

Landon—253 more or less sure votes.
Favorite sons—123
Knox—81
Borah—62
Still unclassified unselected or uncertain—450
Necessary for nomination—501

Powers

Breaking down the 458 uninstructed further you would probably find the relative strength of two great influences hidden there about as follows:

Hoover—116
Hilles Roraback etc—198
Scattered or possibly unallied—145

These are only approximate estimates but they will afford a fair working basis upon which the situation can be accurately figured if you will get out your pencil.

Fundamentals

Arithmetic will prove that if the Hilles Roraback etc strength goes to Landon he will have 451. If only the Hoover Knox strength goes to Landon he will have 463. Landon plus the favorite sons plus Borah equals 448.

Now as a practical proposition any politician knows that if Landon ever gets within 50 votes of the nomination he is as good as in. No band wagons have ever been stopped that near the finish line unless a far more bitter inside situation existed than does exist today.

Thus the fundamental situation seems to be that Landon can get the nomination by a combination with any one of the three outstanding groups of his supposed adversaries.

Fine Farming

Thus you have about the same situation on the inside now as when Hoover was leading the pack before the Kansas City convention in 1928. When any leading candidate can win by a deal with one of his adversaries the adversaries generally scramble to be the one. The reason is obvious. They want to be in on the party organization of the victor.

At Kansas City it was Senator Vare of Pennsylvania who shrewdly ran out on the Mellons and gave Hoover the votes he needed. Who he will be this time nobody yet knows—for sure.

This is not a condition peculiar to Republicans. The same situation developed at Chicago in 1932 when Roosevelt was nominated by the Democrats. At that time the Hearst McAdoo jump was publicly supposed to have brought the needed votes. In reality the arrangement was made here with Garner long before the convention and out of it Mr Garner got his vice presidential nomination.

Push

The state department says it is not so but it will never convince the Japanese that President Roosevelt's 42 per cent textile tariff increase was not rooted in domestic political considerations.

Just one day before the presidential order was issued Japanese Ambassador Saito slipped in the side door of the state department unobserved. He expressed privately to authorities there the hope that a satisfactory agreement could be reached within a day or two. Discussions had been going on for some time looking toward a gentlemen's agreement. It is true the state department was having a hard time getting any definite commitments. But discussions were in a very active stage and the Japanese ambassador and his counselor were calling at the department every two or three days. Nevertheless down came the presidential order abruptly terminating this line of thought.

The hidden push behind it is supposed to have come from the New England delegation on Capitol Hill. New England Democratic congressmen do not care anything about gentlemen's agreements possibly because Japan failed to keep the last one into which she entered regarding direct imports into this country.

They want both tariff increases and quotas and they also want to carry New England in the fall. It is inconceivable but nevertheless true that this same last thought may have occurred to Mr Roosevelt. At least you will never be able to convince the Japanese.

Doubters

Unnamed new deal authorities who are supposed to have had an inside hand in developing presidential doubts about the wisdom of the house tax bill are:

Gov Eccles of the Federal Reserve board who favors the theory of distributing corporation earnings but who is supposed to have considered the house effort a mess.

Attorney General Cummings who is supposed to have expressed his doubts about the constitutionality of the house bill more than once in cabinet meetings.

And you will be surprised at this one! Internal Revenue Commissioner Guy Helvering upon whom the leadership of the initial fight was loaded but who is supposed to have weakened after he saw the bill.

New York Notes

O O McIntyre's Diary of Fact, Fancy and Folks

NEW YORK May 27—There's an odd bit of psychology—and something no one has been able to explain—that goes into the physical make up of a successful night club. Almost without exception the outstanding favorites with the public are those with low ceilings.

The spacious and skyey places in New York with the notable exception of the old Palais Royal have generally been conducted at a loss. Some say it is the acoustics and others say the big places lose the intimacy that gives a lady a chance to show off her gowns.

El Morocco the most crowded night spot at the moment illustrates the idea. The decorations are a pretense at depicting the desert and done somewhat with a Coney Island garishness. Yet a tall man could almost touch the ceiling and so they turn em away.

Bustanoby's Domino Room and Tom Healy's of other days were conspicuous for low ceilings and enjoyed astonishing vogue. A dozen or more of the most beautiful dining rooms in town especially in hotels are desolate because of their cathedral like depth.

Anna May Wong's first visit to China resulted in something of the furore for Lindbergh on his return from Paris. She was of course known through her films but she had no conception of her popularity in the land of her ancestors. Shanghai made her arrival an excuse for a fete day the like of which is not remembered by the oldest inhabitant. Shop and store windows displayed her likeness and almost every movie theater offered an elaborate decorative tribute to the talented daughter of a Los Angeles laundryman.

Miss Wong had a foretaste of what might happen in the way of enthusiastic welcome when she visited New Yorks Chinatown several years ago. She was as I recall escorted to the balconied Port Arthur restaurant by Harold Ross. In the magic telepaths of the quarter the news spread and denizens deserted the shop and fan tan rooms to gawk and gabble as she exited. Afterward the section gave over the night to celebration.

Not many newcomers to New York realize that about 30 years ago Harlem was as Irish as the proverbial Paddy's Pig. Every new arrival from Erin went straight for what was called Irish Harlem. Goals roamed side streets and the merchants bore such names as O'Hennessey McGuire and Hanrahan. There was a lively social club called The Pat and Mike where the good citizens gathered weekly and expressed their Irishry in jig and reel. And the Sunday evening promenade along Seventh avenue began at four and lasted until nine. A green wave one of the newspapers described it. A green wave that is now an ebony black strut.

Most places so notorious as tough spots are disillusioning in close-up. Rue de Lappe the alley like Apache stronghold in Paris is as friendly as the village barber shop. I paid a visit to Eat Em Up Jack McManus infamous dive once goose pimpled with terror and wound up doing some magic for the bar flies. Was I the stuff! Also I have walked through the bagnio bazaars of Havre on Saturday night and met only courtesy. And through Limehouse and the East India Dock Road I found no more rowdiness than on Fifth avenue. What often suggests crime is only the ugliness of squalor.

TODAY—Electric Chair Will Cure Many Cult Faults

The ritual of the murderous secret society called the "Black Legion" contains some old Indian features. The candidate for admission must be willing to murder to proceed and Catholics Jews and Negroes must be native born. Protestant white and gentile.

The Black Legion" which probably will not last long had amusing plans. Among other things proposed to overthrow the federal government which is not an original idea. It was also going to set up a dictatorship with marching regiments to enforce discipline. Dictatorship is not a new idea either.

Strange things are done and planned in the name of "liberty" now as they were when Madame Roland mounted the guillotine platform.

Two prison guards are under arrest as members of the Black Legion. One called brigadier general in the legion had a leather whip and other legion paraphernalia in his possession. An organization claiming six million members as does the Black Legion based on ignorance cruelty and religious hatred might cause serious trouble if it grew too big but probably exposure will permit no trouble that the electric chair cannot cure. The 6,000,000 membership claim is much exaggerated of course.

The latest alleged Black Legion news accuses the legion which is anti Catholic anti Jewish and anti Negro of causing the recent fire that destroyed the Detroit Shrine of Father Coughlin. That crime proved will stimulate action.

Bigger Families

Russia wants bigger families like Mussolini and others with plans. Stalin wants plenty of new little citizens.

A thousand million rubles will be set aside by Moscow to subsidize large families and aid mothers. Birth control ladies and gentlemen will hear surprised that aid to large families will begin after the seventh child. Seven are taken as a matter of course that is the beginning of a Russian family.

Modern Russia proposes that the mother shall not only have children but also keep them alive. That presents an interesting population possibility. Russia might become as big in numbers as Japan and China combined.

Chancellor Hitler of Germany joins in the more and better babies cry.

The German ideal is no longer the beautiful golden haired Margaret spinning her wheel and saying No. The Nazis demand women who above everything else can become the mothers of several children" and are willing to do so according to a representative of Chancellor Hitler.

British Worry

William Philip Simms England is afraid the British empire may not survive on account of air fleet peril.

Britain is disturbed by the thought that her whole imperial line of communication stretching 6,000 miles from the Straits of Gibraltar to the Gulf of Aden is under Mussolini's bombing planes. Except that her empire is the biggest England should not worry more than other countries. With surface ships losing all importance except in the opinions of some Americans anybody's bombers can break up any line of communications temporarily.

The English worry perhaps but at least they go to work. To an English automobile factory that will agree to build airplane England will supply money for new buildings. The British mean to have the most powerful fighting fleet in the air as they have had it on the waters surface for some time past.

Only one kind of genius and one kind of courage exist among men. The British genius that produced a Nelson or a Blake who never went to sea until past 50 to fight on the surface will produce others to win in the air. Fighting with new weapons may make it necessary for nations to restrict their holdings. The English who knew how to expand will know how to contract.

Sooner or later some nation or combination of nations will make itself strong enough to say to the rest of the world stop fighting and enforce it. England and America might do that they could do it.

Italy Blamed

British soldiers in checking Palestine Arabs rioting against Jewish colonists had an unusual experience ammunition gave out and they were compelled to retire before the Arabs.

Britain accuses Italy of stirring up ill feeling against England in Palestine and also in India and Egypt using the native torpedo.

The Italians say Britain secretly influence to stir up action against Italy in the League of Nations getting together although the chance of success fifty-one to one against Italy.

It will take a good deal of wisdom in England and in Italy to quiet the growing ill feeling.

SENATE OKAYED AID BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Provides for Continued Borrowings by Counties Against Utilities Tax Revenue.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS O May 27—Ohio lower house moved today to consider in senate passage of "stop-gap" relief legislation to allay a threatened crisis until July 15

The bill which the senate rushed through by a unanimous vote yesterday came before the house this afternoon It provides for further borrowings by counties against anticipated income from utilities excise taxes

Before its expiration legislators expressed the hope that they would be able to pass a bill for relief needs for the remainder of the year

Gov Martin L Davey who asked the legislature to reassemble last week to consider relief had suggested a long term law first rather than legislation of a temporary nature His suggested bill provides $11 500 000 in funds

The house finance committee late yesterday heard representatives of 72 counties of the Ohio Counties Association testify that any permanent legislation should provide for appropriations on a basis of need rather than by a formula of previous outlays as the present system provides

County relief officials also argued for an increase of the administrative allowance from 5 to 10 per cent of the total appropriation and for elimination of any requirement that counties match state funds

The senate late yesterday also approved a conference report on the McClusky bill which would allot each county five state liquor stores or agencies with an additional one for each 30 000 population in excess of 40 000 The bill went to the governor

Synopsis: Hope Jarin is unconscious at the center of a dark mystery although she is the wife of the socially prominent Rupert Jarin. Rupert's younger brother believes she may even be innocent in blackmail, and he is convinced she is estranged from her husband. The Rev. Silas Devine of El Paso, Tex., tells Hope is ill and will be nothing for herself; as a last resort Dirk has telegraphed her father and now that worthy has arrived—by plane.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

Difficult Case

Dirk quickly into a dressing-... and went down.

... Silas Devine stood in ... Beside him on the table ... overcoat and dark gray ... received an impression ... of iron-gray hair, of a ... brown face with dominant ... on cheek-bones ... black clothes, the ... did not look like a ... sun-browned face and ... suggested an Indian ... but the eyes were blue. Blue ... and, if Dirk was not ... puzzled.

"How ...," he asked, as they ... hands.

"... My brother is ill in ... It was I who wired ...

"... is she?" Devine asked, ... who Dirk replied that Hope ... well tonight, added at ... I go up."

Dirk ... wered that Hope must ... prepared and moved with the ... in the drawing-room, mo... to a sofa. There he sat ... him, replying to his brief ... troubled questions regarding ... condition. There was noth... that would suggest any lack ... touch with Hope up to the mo... ment of her illness, nothing except the visitor's puzzled glance that moved now and then about the room, and came back to rest on Dirk.

Dirk, replying, searched the caller's face for some trace of resemblance to Hope finding none. Again Dirk was conscious that his paramount desire was to protect Hope, to spare her embarrassment and shock. Enlightenment would surely come in some chance word from Mr Devine—at least before he would be permitted to go upstairs.

Mr Devine had not relaxed on the sofa. He sat erect, with head

Devine did not look like a cleric.

only slightly inclined listening to Dirk's rather superficial account of Hope's illness. His large hands gripped his knees.

At last he said

"Of course I don't know your brother."

The remark seemed to leave something unspoken, something illuminated by his next question

"Has she seemed happy?"

Dirk was careful in his reply. He must not betray her to this man, father or not.

"At times," he answered. "But only at times Rupert isn't to blame, however. He's been kind indulgent. Her unhappiness has been due, in part, at any rate, to some estrangement from her family. Naturally you know the details better than I, for she has never confided in me. I thought it might help her to have you come on That was why I telegraphed you."

Mr Devine bent his bright blue scrutiny on Dirk.

"She didn't ask you to wire?" he said

"No. I did it, as I say, because I thought you might help her. No physician can"

The Rev Devine lifted one hand from his knee and put it down again His brows, the line of his jaw, appeared to have frozen hard He rose

"I am stopping at the Pennsylvania" he said. "I shall stay there till there is some change in her condition."

He walked out into the hall picked up his hat and coat. He looked at his watch

"You will keep me advised?" he asked

"I will not," said Dirk This man who had flown two thousand miles because he thought Hope had telegraphed him was not willing to walk upstairs to her when he found she had not. He was undoubtedly her father, decided Dirk A little parent like that around the house might explain any departure of progeny.

"I don't know that she will be able to see you tonight," Dirk said "But if she will, and you are interested in her condition, I advise you to go up, for if you go away without seeing her, I shall not get in touch with you again"

The Rev. Devine looked away. Something like moisture had sprung into his eyes

"I am devoted to her" A relentlessly steadied voice "She was everything in life to her mother and me She knew this She left us deliberately, taking the path of danger, of rebellion"

His eyes came back to Dirk.

"I have told her that she must give up this path, must come back to find us We are waiting"

"Waiting," Dirk repeated thoughtfully "And where does the path she has taken lead?"

A dark fire lit the man's eyes

"To destruction. Destruction of soul and body."

"And you are waiting," Dirk said. "You are waiting, when she may have reached the end."

Devine looked at him.

"Waiting," Dirk said, "for her to come back, when she may not be able to"

He watched Devine's face as he might have watched the faces of a jury.

"And coming back," he added "coming back is pretty hard sometimes I don't remember a lot about the Bible, but I do remember the parable of the Prodigal Son. About the father going out to meet him . when he was a long way off A long way off"

"Yes, my boy," said Devine. "But the son was on the way. He had said, 'I will arise, and go unto my father."

"His father had not heard him say it," Dirk replied "His father must have been watching... noticing every speck on the horizon, or he would not have seen him And when he saw him, he knew him, and ran to meet him"

The Rev Devine was silent, having apparently no rebuttal to this plea He turned away and looked at his watch. Dirk knew that the gesture was purely one of nerves

"I will go up," he said and added with some brequeuness, "I ask only that you let her know you telegraphed"

Dirk agreed to this "I'm not certain you can see her tonight," he explained "It might be best for her to have no excitement after what happened this afternoon And of course you understand, . quietness, gentleness...."

SPEECHES BY SLOAN ANSWER ROOSEVELT

conclusion are worth repeating:

"The first, that there is no practical or economic justification for the national belief of today that there is a limit to the number of man hours of constructive employment. That we must divide up, that we cannot expand, is a defeatist attitude It is the philosophy of scarcity. It is only for those who are not willing to see. The second, that today there exists a practical opportunity of great importance—let us rebuild America."

Now the interesting thing is that President Roosevelt and Alfred P. Sloan Jr, ought really to be looking at an economic problem the same way—for there is nothing political about economic facts and experience. But the difference is that Mr. Roosevelt has never met a payroll in an industry or been responsible for industrial operation and Mr. Sloan has not only had the responsibility but has made a success of it. Yet in the coming campaign the politicians will be talking economics and denouncing the business men—and the unemployed will be the innocent bystanders. But that's campaigning as it always has been.

VERDICT APPEALED

MARYSVILLE, May 27 — Mrs. Myrtle Waterman of Claibourne township has filed motion of appeal from the common pleas court verdict in her action for restraining order and damage suit for $500 filed against the board of trustees of Claibourne township and Norman Ackley, WPA engineer for Upion county. The suit is the result of a dispute over a strip of land through which the trustees, in cooperation with the WPA, started a ditch project.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Alarmed by Letter Sent to Marion

At last Marion really had alarmed me about Ronald As she uttered the words, "What he's thinking about, I'm sure, is the insurance,' a tiny finger of dread ran down my spine.

I must not alarm her further That was the first thought which came to me, and I ostentatiously consulted my wrist watch again, fighting for composure the while

'We have less than five minutes," I said, "Tell me everything he said that so terrified you, and then we must go."

"It was only a sentence," she said, "put in when he was writing about the uncertainty of getting a job Let me see what he said"

What He Wrote

She opened the letter and turned unerringly to the page she wanted I knew that she had read the epistle through many times—and wept over it. I could see the stains of tears

"Here it is," she said. "He writes

"The irony of it is that I am worth far more dead than alive. If there was only some way I could cash in on those endowment policies now instead of waiting until I'm 30, I'd be sitting pretty, and wouldn't have a thing to worry about for myself, or Carolyn, or mother'"

She folded the letter and looked at me with tragic eyes

"You see," she said, "why I'm nearly crazy."

I did see, indeed. I knew how the incentive to provide ease and comfort for a loved mother and sister might warp the judgment of a sentivie, affectionate boy like Ronald, and prevent his seeing that such a sacrifice would entail much more horrible suffering to a mother and a sister who loved him than any privation

Reassures Her

"I am sure you are alarming yourself needlersly, darling," I said with an air of finality. "But you may be very sure I shall know for certain before the day is out And now, we must go. We have only a minute left before we leave this room if we wish to meet Uncle Dicky at the minute he specified."

"I'm all ready," she said, "but please tell me what you are going to do, you're not going to tell Ronald I've told you all this?"

Her voice and eyes were frantic now. I took her by the shoulders and looked down into her upturned, terror-filled eyes.

"Darling child," I said. "Can't you trust me to say only what I have to say? Something must be done about this, and I am going to do it. I am going directly to New Haven now, and find out what this is all about. I shall not say anything about the insurance end of it, unless Ronald himself broaches the subject, and I shall never tell him that you spoke to me of your fear in that direction"

Her eyes lost their look of terror, and she straightened herself in my clasp.

"That's the only thing of which I'm really afraid,' she said, "I was an awful fool about the rest. I'm so thankful you're going up to see Ronald; I can't tell you how grateful I am I just feel that everything will be all right, if you take it in hand, Auntie Madge. But how am I going to know what you find out?"

"I'll tell you in the car," I said, and we hurried down the stairs to the side entrance where Dicky was waiting. We put Marion between us in the front seat, and I spoke across her to Dicky.

"If you'll drive directly to a block from the school, and stop there, I can tell Marion some last things."

Ignores Teasing

"Don't make 'em your usual 'last things'," he adjured me with a teasing grin, "or Marion will be late for classes"

I ignored his thrust loftily, and when we were drawn up by the roadside a block from the school, I spoke swiftly to Marion.

"As soon as I know anything I will telephone Mrs Barnes—oh! not to tell her anything that will let her guess about Ronald," I interrupted as she stiffened, "just an ambiguous message that you will understand"

"That will be splendid," she said, and then added wistfully, "I wish you could write to me all about Ronald, but I suppose it wouldn't do, for Carolyn always loves to read your letters and she'd think it queer if I didn't hand one over to her."

HOW TO RULE A WOMAN

You have always been told to fill a man with a self-admiration—and "all that spills over will be yours'

But why a man? If flattery is sauce for the gander, it should be fine stuffing for the goose' And as a sure-fire policy for ruling a woman, a rod or iron never equalled a velvet tongue and a good line of applesauce. The shrewdest and most hard-headed women have been known to melt and trickle over into submission under the influence of a few softening compliments

It doesn't matter who the man is or how unprepossessing he is; if he knows how and when to spread the salve and lays it on thick enough, he does not have to write to the lovelorn columns to find out how to run his own wife. He knows all the answers.

There are women who lived all their lives with husbands who abused or neglected them, simply because those husbands filled them with self-esteem, popped up their vanity and kept them pleased with themselves. And there are women who have left perfectly good and responsible husbands because said husbands never bothered to 'say it with flowers' or with words

Everybody needs a booster and a cheer-leader; but a woman needs one twice as badly as a man does, because her inferiority complex goes twice as deep And the man who does the most to reduce that pain-in-the-ego can keep her jumping through hoops, forever. I'm a woman—and I know'

Even the hardest-boiled woman has a Achillean heel somewhere in her vanity, which is vulnerable to praise Famous actresses and novelists are noted for the child-like delight with which they will swallow flattery and succumb to soft soap and incense, and many an astute business woman has been fooled by a silver tongued dealer in honeyed words

As for a married woman—the husband who has been bullying her or battling with her for years can melt her to tears just by taking her in his arms and telling her how aweet of how beautiful or how wonderful she is Women are happy that way!

Why then are most husbands so frugal and stingy with their applause? Why does a man always wrap a compliment in a pill of advice or a capsule of cynicism when he offers it to his wife" Why does he feed her praise through a medicine-dropper, as though he were afraid that too much of it might spoil her" Why do so many men permit their marriages to grow as cold as a January blizzard while they hesitate to pass the appleasauce?

It doesn't cost a penny to say pretty things to your wife. It doesn't even take any time or effort to say something that will set her heart singing all day long The biggest returns a man can get for the least expenditure of energy are those he receives for a little flattery It can sweeten up two lives that would otherwise have gone sour or turned bitter You never know what miracles it will work until you've tried it. It is the best investment that a husband can make Silence may be golden—but flattery is pure radium! Try it on your wife!

LABOR DISCORD HITS 15 STATES

Union Leaders Claim 45,000 on Strike With Negotiations Generally Deadlocked.

By The Associated Press

Fifteen states sought today to quell labor discord that spawned a vast, swiftly growing army of strikers.

Peace negotiations generally were deadlocked after 24 hours marked by a tightening of lines by both employers and strikers and claims of union leaders that the roll of strikers already out or called out had mounted from 350,000 to 45,000.

Hundreds of farms and factories were affected from coast to coast.

Employers generally challenged the union claims of the effectiveness of the strikes. Settlements were reached in only isolated cases affecting a negligible number of workers.

Protect LaGuardia

At New York police intervened early today to prevent six striking seamen from picketing the home of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia on threats of arresting them under an anti-noise ordinance. The pickets were protesting action of police in dispersing a picket line shortly before midnight last night on the Panama Pacific line pier.

This followed an unsuccessful attempt by officials of the International Seamen's union and striking members of the Atlantic and gulf district to reach an agreement in Chicago.

Quiet prevailed generally in Ohio's troubled labor situation today as 31 employes of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. awaited hearing at Akron on charges that they violated Ohio's riot law in a "sitdown" demonstration last week.

As the date for the Akron hearings arrived, Akron Police Prosecutor A. H. Johnson said that at least 17 more warrants would be sworn before Thursday against Goodyear workers involved in the "sitdown" last week.

Claim Group Detained

The men scheduled for hearing today are charged with holding prisoner a group of company supervisors and non-union employes during the demonstration. Johnson said 16 more men would be charged with violation of the riot law and at least seven would be charged with felonies.

At Portsmouth, union leaders and company officials, conferred with a national guard observer in an effort to forestall any further violence at the strike-bound plant of the Wheeling Steel Corp. where about 5,000 workers are idle.

Lieut. Col. E. P. Lawler, the observer, said he saw "no need for calling troops." More than a score of persons have received minor injuries in clashes between pickets and non-striking employes there.

Cite Bargaining Rights

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers called the strike, claiming the company refused to respect the union's bargaining rights under the national labor relations act. About 200 office workers and company police remained within the plant today for the fifth day.

The employes of the Electrolite Corp. at Defiance voted to return to work today after walking out yesterday demanding recognition of the Mechanics Educational Society of America.

Six hundred striking loaders at the Powhatan mine near Martins Ferry were ordered back to work by a district officer of the United Mine Workers of America pending arbitration efforts.

Walter E. Gerhart, general superintendent of the safe cabinet plant of Remington Rand, Inc., at Marietta said the plant would reopen despite a strike of members of the Sheet Metal Workers International association local 75, which closed the plant yesterday. The strike affected 125 employes. Gerhart said the factory would operate on an "open shop basis."

RADICAL PACIFISTS HIT IN OFFICER'S TALK HERE

Adequate Defense Force Best Safeguard of Peace, Col. Johnson Tells Rotarians; Bill Tilden Also on Program.

A message of peace was brought to members of the Marion Rotary club yesterday by a United States army officer.

It came from Col. Waite E. Johnson, chief of staff of the Eighty-third division and a veteran of the World war with a record of outstanding service. He is the commanding officer at Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Speaking to the Rotarians following their weekly luncheon at Hotel Harding, he declared army men are among the staunchest advocates of peace but that they believe the only way to assure peace is through adequate preparedness for defense.

On the program with Col. Johnson was "Big Bill" Tilden, famous tennis star here for an exhibition performance at Crystal Lake park last night. Tilden preceded Col. Johnson with a brief talk in which he related some of his interesting experiences in this and other countries.

The meeting of Col. Johnson and Tilden came as a reunion of old friends, for the army officer is a former tennis star and at one time was a member of United States Olympic teams.

Assails Radical Pacifists

Col. Johnson vigorously criticized pacifists who seek to deprive the nation of an army adequate for defense. They are divided, he said, into two groups which have different motives but which are working toward the same result.

In the one group he placed the radical forces which aim at overthrow of government and in doing so seek to destroy the effectiveness of the army and navy. These two branches of defense Col. Johnson declared, are the nation's greatest safeguard, always loyal regardless of what party is in power or what emergencies arise.

The other group was declared to be pacifists motivated by religious principles, who believe that the millennium is here and that complete disarmament is the way to peace. They quote the Bible to show that Christ was against preparedness, and yet, according to Col. Johnson, the Scriptures offer far more arguments for defense measures. Pointing out that Christ admonished each of His followers to "buy a sword" for self-defense, he said the army provides that weapon for this nation.

Advocates of Peace

"Professional soldiers," Col. Johnson said, "are the most peaceful of all people. Those who have gone through war yearn for peace, for they know if war comes they will be the first ones who will have to go. They are pacifists but are also students of history. They know that the millennium is not here and that there has been little change in human nature in the last 3,000 or 4,000 years."

He sounded an especially emphatic warning against attempts to weaken the Reserve Officers' Training corps. That, he said, is the major target of radical pacifists who seek to undermine the government, because they know that in the event of needed defense, this organization will provide the most effective immediate agency for training soldiers for action.

This organization, made up of 120,000 officers who are giving their peace-time preparedness service without pay, he designated as "the real backbone of national defense."

Recent developments, Col. Johnson said, have proved that enforcement of treaties is impossible without military backing.

Armed Support Necessary

Although voicing a sense of gratitude for America's separation from the League of Nations, he expressed the belief that an organization of nations backed up with force would serve to keep peace and prevent violation of treaties.

"That brings the subject home to us. Although the great majority of us are law-abiding citizens, police departments must be maintained to guard against violations. So it is with nations, which have their Dillingers and other trouble-makers on a large scale."

Answering pacifists who assert the cost of the country's military establishment is too high, Col. Johnson said that only a part of the appropriation for military purposes goes for actual army expense.

"The most convincing answer," he said, "is that in the list of 18 leading nations of the world the United States ranks first in wealth, third or fourth in population, and absolutely eighteenth in defense."

AS SOCIALISTS PICKED THOMAS

Selection of Norman Thomas, shown center with upraised hand, as Socialist presidential nominee for the third consecutive time was the occasion for an impromptu celebration at the national convention in Cleveland in which Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee, left, and Leo Krzycki, right, convention chairman, joined in. In accepting the nomination, Thomas urged the party fight for constitutional amendments in "behalf of the workers" and appealed for establishment of a new social order.

The feature picture on the bill will be "Love on a Bet," with Gene Raymond, Wendy Barrie and Helen Broderick.

MEXICO CITY, May 27 — A series of battles between troops and insurgents in which 36 rebels died, reports to the war department said today, virtually ended insurrection in the states of Guanajuato and Durango, chief theater of recent operations.

In a third state, Jalisco, troops beat cautiously through thickly-wooded hills in pursuit of a band of 30 men who waylaid a bus Sunday, killed 13 persons and wounded seven.

Former Red Bird Ace Hurls Two-Hit Game for Cards

INDIANS AND REDS DEFEATED; RED SOX NEAR AMERICAN LEAD

Victory Over Cincinnati Puts Cubs in Third Place in National League.

Manager Frankie Frisch is wearing a big grin today over a pitching discovery that may be just what the doctor ordered to round out his staff of St. Louis Cardinals "varsity" hurlers.

Since the season opened, he has depended on the Dean boys, "Wild Bill" Hallahan, Roy Parmelee and Bill Walker as his starting set, but doubleheaders are piling up just ahead.

Jim Winford, 24-year-old right hander imported last year from the Columbus Red Birds, may furnish help.

Winford started against the Pittsburgh Pirates in the nightcap of a twin bill, after Dizzy Dean had let the Bucs down 6-2 in the opener, and the newcomer came through with a two-hit performance, while his mates were batting out a 6-2 win.

The double victory pushed the Cards a full game in front of the New York Giants, despite the triumph of the Terrymen over Brooklyn, 7-3, behind Harry Gumbert's seven-hit twirling. It was the fifth straight win for Gumbert.

In the American league, the diamond-studded Red Sox, aided by Jimmie Foxx' twelfth homer of the year, pulled up to within half a game of the lead with a 5-4 victory over the Yanks. Bill Dickey, veteran Yankee catcher, collided with Eric McNair in a tight play at the plate, and an X-ray showed a kidney injury which will keep him in the hospital for 10 days.

Trailing the Yanks and the Sox, the Detroit Tigers managed only a split in a double-bill with the White Sox, dropping the nightcap 2-9 before Sugar Cain's tight pitching, after homers by Goose Goslin and Dixie Walker helped General Alvin Crowder take the opener 12-9.

Roy Henshaw pitched the Chicago Cubs from sixth to third place in the National league with a 10-4 win over the Reds, despite Kiki Cuyler's homer. The Phils outslugged the Boston Bees, 7-2, with Johnny Moore collecting his eighth four-bagger.

The St. Louis Browns came from behind with a four-run rally in the ninth to trounce the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 5, while the Senators had little trouble with the Athletics and won handily 8-2.

--THE TOP ROW TRIUMPH AT SANTA ANITA, AND BREVITY'S DEFEAT IN THE STARTED MANY ARGUMENTS--

CONTROVERSIAL storms and an avalanche of arguments were started early this year by Top Row's triumph in the rich Santa Anita equine classic. Charges were hurled back and forth, and it was alleged that Jockey Wayne Wright, who rode the winning horse, used rough tactics in booting the Baroni colt home.

Tommy Luther, rival jockey in the race, took a punch at Wright afterward because of Wayne's alleged cowboy tactics, but the complaints of foul riding were unavailing as far as changing the result of the race.

Early this month the turf again furnished dramatic debates over the unlooked for defeat of Brevity in the famed Kentucky Derby. The Widener hoss, victim of typical Widener bad luck at the start of the Derby, came on only to be nosed out of victory when this same Wayne Wright got a taste of his own rough riding tactics. Loud shouts of foul by supporters of Brevity, filled the air, but as usual, nothing happened.

Golf also furnished a controversial contest this spring, when Horton Smith's victory in the Augusta Masters' was laid open to question because of an infraction of the rules. Lawson Little, out of the running, putted out of turn at the final hole, showing Smith the speed of the rain-soaked green, and enabling him to drop the winning putt into the cup.

Any mention of debatable sports events inevitably brings up the name of that greatest of storm centers, Jack Dempsey. Almost all of his big fights aroused controversy—remember the Firpo mix-up, the Sharkey foul squabble and the Tunney long count?

COLUMBUS RED BIRDS SCORE 10-5 VICTORY OVER INDIANAPOLIS

Morgan's Homer Drives In Three Runs; Brewers Trim Saints.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 27—Manager Al Sothoron's preseason prediction that the Milwaukee Brewers would be a tough assignment for every other club in the American Association is being borne out these days.

The Brewers handed St. Paul's Saints their tenth straight defeat yesterday, 6 to 0, the shutout being the first the Saints have taken this season. Milwaukee produced an "unknown" on the mound, Allyn Johnson, and the rookie won the first start he has made even though he walked nine and allowed as many hits.

In the first five innings 12 St. Paul batsmen died on the bases and the game total was 15, a record for the year. Chet Laabs continued his sensational work at the plate. His double produced two runs in the first frame.

Louisville beat Toledo for the second time in as many days, 7 to 2. The Hens could get only eight hits off "Buck" Marrow as the Colonels were collecting 16 safeties, 15 of them off Joe Hare, who worked seven innings. Goodwin Rosen, speedy Colonel outfielder, led the Louisville attack with a homer and three singles.

Columbus evened the series with Indianapolis by taking a 10 to 5 decision, Eddie Morgan's homer driving in three runs for the Red Birds in a big seventh inning. Morgan's long smash over the right field fence came after Jack Winsett and Hal Anderson had singled. In the eighth the Birds got four more markers.

Minneapolis trounced Kansas City in a night game, 7 to 4, although badly outhit. Kansas City collected 14 hits off McKain and Tauscher while the Millers got to Niggeling and Stoncreif for six blows.

LAST AMERICANS PASS FROM BRITISH GOLF TOURNAMENT

Bassett and Grant Dropped as Amateur Contest Progresses.

By The Associated Press

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 27 — The British amateur golf championship became a strictly domestic affair today as the last two American survivors, Theodore Bassett of Rye, N. Y., and Douglas Grant, a former New Yorker living in England, passed from the tournament.

Bassett was scratched from the list when he failed to appear on the tee for his third round match. He drew a first-round bye and gained the second round via the default route. He was regarded as somewhat of a mystery man because authorities disclosed they had not seen him since the championship started Monday.

Grant, who reached the semi-final round of the championship 13 years ago, was eliminated by P. W. L. Risdon by the score of 6 and 5 in a third round encounter.

GAMES TOMORROW

NATIONAL LEAGUE—Cincinnati at Chicago, Boston at New York, Brooklyn at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at St. Louis.

AMERICAN LEAGUE—St. Louis at Cleveland, New York at Boston, Chicago at Detroit, Philadelphia at Washington.

May 30 Race Half Over Before Cars Reach Track

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 27—[illegible] will be more than half [illegible] the slender streamlined cars take the track at [illegible]napolis motor speedway [illegible] 500 mile race Memorial [illegible] 30.

[illegible] few of the 150,000 who [illegible] the big racing enclosure [illegible] realize the months of research, careful work, the painstaking checking of each part which [illegible] necessary to send the [illegible] on the track ready for a [illegible] whirl at high speed around [illegible] 2½ mile brick track. [illegible] will tell you most races are won [illegible] in the garage.

[illegible] there's the magnaflux machine which each vital part is [illegible] to be tested under [illegible]—for defects which no [illegible] known method of determination can find. In the inky bath of the magnaflux cracks show up that the eye never could find, nor the X-ray.

Once past that test the parts are assembled, oftentimes by the man who designed and built the engine and now acts as its chief mechanic.

Assembled the car is driven onto a raised platform where experts align the wheels to a fraction of an inch. Previously the wheels have been checked on a hand or dynamic wheel balancer until they will turn at terrific speed without a trace of sway to one side or the other.

From the wheel alignment platform the car is rolled down to the testing machine where brakes are tested so there will be no lateral skids when the brakes are pulled on.

Then comes the final test—the tires, once the bugaboo of every driver, now hardly given a thought because of advances in tire design and construction.

Once past the tire station the car is ready to go and is wheeled from there to the track.

The cars are completely torn down at least four or five times during the final week or two of tests and every part is checked.

The final checkup comes after the qualifying trials, the final two days of which start this afternoon at 5 p. m. Marion time, with four places still open in the starting field of 33 and eight or more cars ready to fight it out for those.

St. Mary and the Epworth Bishops nosed into a close battle for first place in No. 2 Sunday school softball league by winning games played last night. Salem, previously undefeated, was toppled from the top rung of the loop ladder, suffering a 11 to 5 defeat at the hands of the Christians. St. Mary registered its third consecutive win by defeating the Calvary team, 20 to 3, to hold a one-game lead on the unbeaten Epworth Bishops. The latter team annexed its second victory by defeating Wesley 6 to 3.

Sunday school No. 1 squads will play tonight in the series of games postponed from May 18. It will be the first No. 1 league games since the openers, May 11, and Forest Lawn, St. Mary, Reformed and Lee Street will be endeavoring to add the second game to their first round victories.

The St. Mary-Calvary game at the President field last night turned into a scoring spree for the parochial squad. The winning team registered its 20 runs in 16 hits. Five Calvary errors aided the co-leader of the loop to score the one-sided win. Paulus, St. Mary hurler, permitted only five safe bingles in the entire game.

Scoring the initial run in the opening frame, the Epworth Bishops trailed 2 to 1, as Wesley scored a run in each of the first two innings. Undaunted, the Bishops took over the lead by scoring two tallies in the third, on two hits and an error, and continued with a winning margin throughout the remainder of the contest. Primmer, winning pitcher, allowed three hits, issued six passes and fanned six batters.

The Christian team touched the opposing pitcher, Moon, for 12 hits in defeating the Salem team, 11 to 5. The defeat was the first in three contests for Salem, while it was also Christian's first victory in the same number of games. Reid, Pellack, Harrold, Owens and Gilmore, each collected extra-base hits for the Christian aggregation.

MOLEY WARNS NEW DEALERS

Says Radicals Within Roosevelt's Party May Use Reforms To Destroy Him.

By United Press

NEW YORK, May 27—Raymond Moley, former "brain trust No 1" in the new deal, last night warned President Roosevelt that he must beware of the radicals within his own party lest they "use the political power that his moderate reforms provided in the earlier and more popular days of his administration to destroy him, to destroy moderation, and to destroy the very system that he attempted to improve."

Addressing the annual dinner of the National Economy league Dr. Moley saw the Roosevelt administration as confronted with these dangers:

1—That federal relief agencies will be turned into political machines to perpetuate the rule of state and local politicians;

2—The tendency, "all too prevalent in this congress, to engage in muck-raking, marauding expeditions which destroy the liberty of all of the people while they seek to restrain the abuses of a few. These orgies of public castigation may be means of furthering individual political ambitions, they may be bulldups for those with presidential bankerships, but so far as the public interest is concerned they are simply sound and fury."

3—The tendency of those in charge of the new deal to overemphasize adherence to and belief in the philosophy of the movement and to minimize the importance of competent technical administration.

Dr. Moley defended capitalism, declared that already there has been a wide distribution of wealth in this country, and warned the average man that he eventually must pay the mounting bills for relief—that he is the "missionary being fattened for a cannibalistic feast."

The speaker said that while per capita taxes still are slightly lower in the United States than in Britain they eventually must be far higher since Britain is running on a balanced budget while this country constantly is running into the red.

SOCIALISTS TO USE RED TRUCKS IN DRIVE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 27—The Socialist party set forth today on its most extensive campaign since Eugene Victor Debs toured the nation in the famous "red special."

Instead of the special train, the party now has a fleet of red sound trucks, which will be sent throughout the country during the campaign, operating out of the central party headquarters in Chicago.

Norman Thomas, former Marion man, again the presidential nominee, leaves Cleveland late today for a series of speaking engagements en route back to his New York home. Within a few weeks, he will make the first of a series of trips around the nation, taking off a month in mid-summer and ending with a transcontinental "lower berth" campaign beginning in early September.

The vice presidential nominee, George Nelson—a "dirt farmer" from Polk county, Wisconsin, prominent in the farmers union and cooperative movement—will confine his speaking trips to the agricultural areas of the middle west.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, at the first meeting of the new national executive committee today, was named as chairman of the national campaign committee.

LEGION ENTERTAINS ESSAY CONTESTANTS

Certificates Presented 59 Boys and Girls in Assembly at Dugout.

Fifty-nine boys and girls from Marion city and county public and parochial schools who participated in the statewide American Legion essay contest were entertained last night at the Dugout by Bird McGinnis Post No. 162.

Citations, in the form of congratulatory certificates signed by the department commander, Milton D. Campbell of Cincinnati, were presented the essay writers by H. Alfred Donithen. "Our American Heritage" was the subject on which all essays were written.

Mr. Donithen, in a talk to the participants and approximately 250 parents and friends, said "the interest in this affair shows that the nation will carry on, upheld by these future citizens." He said the number of boys and girls who entered the patriotic contest in Marion county and throughout the state refuted the talk of some that "the youth of America is going to the dogs." In closing he urged the boys and girls to continue their citizenship training.

After presentation of citations and the talks, a Tarzan motion picture and several Mickey Mouse comedies were shown, and refreshments were served.

The post dispensed with the usual business meeting to entertain the essay writers.

LUTHERAN CHURCH CLASS ENTERTAINED

Gene and Bobby Maynard of West Columbia street were hosts last night to the Wo-Fa-Lo class of St. Paul's English Lutheran church. Devotionals by Gene Maynard preceded a short business session. Contest honors were won by Richard Dunn and John McClure. The class will meet June 30 with John McClure of Pearl street.

ICKES REAFFIRMS U. S. TITLE TO OIL AND GAS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 27—Once more overruling the decision by former Secretary Albert B. Fall, Secretary Ickes announced today he had confirmed his ruling of a year ago giving the United States title of $25,000,000 worth of oil and natural gas in the Elk Hills field in California.

The late Sen. Thomas Walsh of Montana, who conducted the tea Pot Dome oil investigation, introduced the legislation which had directed the interior department to recover the famous "section 36" of the field.

Denying the appeal of oil companies and individuals who had obtained title after it had passed to the state of California in 1903, Ickes said:

"I have been able to find no reason either to change my prior decision or to grant the motion for a rehearing."

The petitioners were: The Standard Oil Co. of California, Pan-American Petroleum Co., Associated Oil Co., Valley Natural Gas Co., Edward L. Doheny, Mrs. Sydney H. Greeley, Frank J. Carman, Charles O. Fairbank and Thomas A. O'Donnell.

SLIGHT DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE

Only slight damage resulted when a coal oil stove at the residence of Milton Thompson of 145 Scioto street, exploded at 10:28 a. m. today. Firemen from company No. 2 carried the burning stove from the home and extinguished the blaze.

At 11:07 a. m., firemen from company No. 2 were called to the residence of Mrs. Mary Kinsler of 203 Flea avenue, to extinguish a minor roof fire, caused by sparks from the chimney.

The demonstration was the last of a series arranged by Miss Eleanor Barnard, assistant music supervisor, in which every grade school pupil of the public schools has participated.

Special numbers given by the children were as follows:

Greenwood school, first grade rhythm band, directed by Miss Ruth Edwards; George Washington, the Highland Fling, by girls coached by Miss Helen Atchinson; Pearl, Maypole dance by boys and girls coached by Miss Catherine Sloan and Miss Wilma Click; Forest Lawn, rhythm folk dance coached by Miss Marie Johnson.

"The Irish Lilt" was danced by the Oak street group, under the direction of Miss Viola Peacock.

The British women and children were removed from the seaport of Jaffa to the northwest Palestine port of Haifa aboard a warship and established their headquarters later in the neighboring all-Jewish city of Tel-Aviv.

STOCKS RECEDE THEN ADVANCE

Steel, Merchandising and Farm Implement Issues Lead Upturn.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 27—The stock market skidded on a profit taking curve in today's early proceedings, but soon got back on the upward road.

The trading pace was a little faster than in recent sessions. Steel, merchandising, farm implement and chemical issues were the most popular. Most of the utilities, rails and motors were only slightly firmer.

Allied Chemical was up about 4 points, near the start of the fourth hour, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube showed a gain of more than 3. Others, lesser amounts ahead included Monsanto Chemical, Coca-Cola, Johns-Manville, Westinghouse, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Deere, Peoples Gas and Montgomery Ward.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol was in supply, and Philip Morris, Kroger Grocery, Union Carbide and Shell Union Oil were narrow.

Failure of a New York cotton exchange broker did not unsettle cotton futures, which held better than even. Grains, bonds and foreign currencies moved in a restricted range.

Discussing the boost in steel prices, "Iron Age" expressed the opinion that June should be the best month of the year for the industry.

The review pointed out that, even now, steel deliveries are considerably delayed, with many users who had become accustomed to day-to-day buying hard-pressed for tonnage.

At the beginning of foreign exchange transactions the French franc was down .00¾ of a cent at 6.58¾ cents, and sterling was up ¼ of a cent at $4.95¼.

Stocks and Bonds.

Stock and bond sales today were: stocks, 1,221,010; bonds, 11,201,000.

TREASURY REPORT

WHEAT PRICE GAINS DROPPED AT CLOSE

Setbacks in Final Dealing Caused by Profit Taking After Opening Upturn.

CHICAGO, May 27—Wheat prices dipped during late dealings today, and earlier gains were more than wiped out.

Profit taking on the part of early buyers was more or less responsible for late setbacks of the wheat market. There were also improved crop reports from Kansas, and some estimates the state yield would be larger than recently expected.

Wheat closed easy, ⅛@¾ under yesterday's finish, July 83¾@⅞, Sept. 83¼@⅝, corn ¼ to 1 cent up, July 60¾@⅞. Oats at ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance, and provisions showing 2 cents to 12 cents rise.
